

Have you ever been riding down the road with your radio on and its the middle of winter and it sounds like a thunderstorm????...Or maybe your listening to your favorite talk show and everytime theres something you really want to hear the reception goes out, or the radio station has to redirect there anntena. These are irratating circumstances which happen daily on public radio bands, we live in the year 2004, static and and inability to get a reception is a thing of the past, since I have bought a satellite radio these iconoclastic, annoying things are of the past. I listen to what I choose with a wide variety of music , sports, weather, entertainment, traffic, etc. The days of snap crackle pop, are over, and I challenge anyone who feels otherwise to tryout a satellite radio for a week, you will never go back.....Frank Billings
